Albury Electorate shares in NSW Government Grants

Repairs to the grandstand at Corowa Racecourse and Showground and a new toilet at Bungowannah Public Hall are just two projects which have been funded as part of almost $94,000 in NSW Government grants for the Albury region.

Member for Albury Greg Aplin said in total eight projects had been funded from the Crown Reserves Improvement Fund (CRIF).

“Crown reserves play an important role in our local communities, with many being home to popular sporting and recreational facilities,” Mr Aplin said.

“I am pleased to see Corowa Racecourse and Showground will receive $27,817 to maintain and repair the grandstand and Bungowannah Public Hall receiving $25,000 to upgrade the toilet block, which will include installing a new disabled toilet.

“There are another six projects including much needed weeding and pest control on Crown land across Albury.” (List attached).

Minister for Lands and Forestry Paul Toole said the program was focussed on ensuring communities and visitors could continue to enjoy local land and facilities.

“This year we’ve made a record investment into Crown land with more than $20 million in grants and loans being provided across the state,” Mr Toole said.

To date, the NSW Government has invested $115 million across seven years into Crown land projects.

CRIF supports Crown reserve managers by providing funding for repairs and maintenance projects, pest and weed control, new recreational infrastructure and environmental initiatives.
