NSW GOVERNMENT INJECTS OVER $130,000 FOR LOCAL PRESCHOOLS

Member for Albury, Greg Aplin is pleased to advise that local preschools across the electorate will be receiving over $130,000 in additional funding to assist during the drought.

“Preschool services looking after our state’s littlest learners in drought-affected regions will have some relief during this tough drought period, with the NSW Government announcing a $3 million package to provide financial support for community preschools in NSW,” said Mr Aplin.

“The new package will allow preschools to reduce fees, allow more flexibility with travel arrangements and future-proof services so they are more resilient and better equipped to cope when challenging circumstances arise.

“We are facing one of the driest years on record, resulting in failing crops, drastic water shortages and diminishing supply of fodder to sustain livestock.

“These hardships have a knock-on effect for many aspects of life so it’s important, as a government, we show leadership and help out where we can.

“Education changes lives and to the families doing it tough out in drought affected areas, we want to help and we will continue to support you as much as possible through these challenging times,” Mr Aplin said.
