NSW GRANDPARENTS DAY – 28 OCTOBER

Member for Albury, Greg Aplin today thanked our seniors for the important role they play in the local community ahead of this year's Grandparents Day and encouraged residents to spend the day with an older loved one.

"Grandparents Day is a day to connect across the generations and to recognise the important work seniors do in strengthening our community," Mr Aplin said.

"We have some truly inspiring grandparents and seniors and I would encourage everyone to reach out to their grandparent or a senior they know to connect and thank them this Grandparents Day."

Minister for Ageing Tanya Davies said $200,000 was made available for organisations across NSW to host events that engage and celebrate grandparents of all ages and abilities.

"Grandparents play an integral role in NSW families and it is important that we take the time to thank them for their invaluable contributions," Mrs Davies said.

"The love and care grandparents give to their families and our communities is truly cherished and these events are a way to show this appreciation."

Grandparents Day is an initiative of the NSW Government's Ageing Strategy and is held annually on the last Sunday in October.
